Up to £25k pa, plus bonus and 25 days annual leave

Are you frustrated that your knowledge and enthusiasm are not recognised or rewarded?

Acheta Consulting Ltd provides independent audit, inspection and training services in pest control to a wide range of blue-chip companies in food and allied industries.

Rapid growth means that we require an additional team member. The successful applicant will ultimately be responsible for a diverse range of site inspections, some in very challenging environments.

Working from home, the role will entail significant travel within the UK. The successful applicant will ideally be located somewhere in the Midlands or south-east, but potential candidates outside of this area should not be deterred from applying as further vacancies are anticipated in the future. A driving licence is essential.

The ideal candidate will have at least 5 years' experience of inspecting warehouses and food-manufacturing sites, a thorough working knowledge of pest control products and practices, excellent interpersonal skills and be computer literate. However, we recognise that we are fishing in a small pond, so we are prepared to commit our time and money to develop a less experienced candidate from the pest control or food industry who shows exceptional promise.

This is a fantastic opportunity for an ambitious individual who wishes to be integral to the growth and development of an innovative company working with very high profile clients. Those interested should send a CV and hand-written covering letter, including details of current salary and benefits to:

Dr John Simmons, Acheta Consulting Ltd, Threave House, Long Street, Belton, Loughborough LE12 9TP. Or for an informal discussion about the position call John Simmons on 07855 944049.
